

Thought for the week

'And actually the amazing thing is that all God asks is that we sort of open the door and He'll do the rest. So often we kinda hide behind our yearning for love and acceptance with loads of complicated theological questions, and actually once that's stripped away what we really are is just somebody who wants to have that relationship with our Father' Bear Grylls

Headlice

We have had an increase in the reported cases of Headlice in school.

Please check your children's and close family members' head tonight and regularly over the next four weeks and treat accordingly. Please ensure girls with long hair is tied back at all times, this will hopefully help prevent lice moving from one head to another.

Last week

In class one the children practised their listening skills and then wrote their friend's news. In maths they started subtraction and then they went for a walk on the moon!

In class two the children did word problems in maths and all did very well in their times table tests on Friday.

In class three the children researched fact files on the solar system and finished making rockets. They also started diary writing.
